

CARROLL MUFFETT

Carroll Muffett is President and CEO of the Center for International Environmental Law. With offices in Washington, DC and Geneva, Switzerland, CIEL uses the power of law to protect the environment, promote human rights and ensure a just and sustainable society.

Prior to joining CIEL, Carroll served as Executive Director of the Climate Law & Policy Project and Deputy Campaigns Director at Greenpeace USA, where he was instrumental in the organization's campaigns on global warming, forests and other issues.

From 2000 to 2006, Carroll served as international counsel and Senior Director for International Conservation at Defenders of Wildlife, helping win international protections for great white sharks, wild birds, and high value timber species like mahogany. Before joining Defenders, Carroll was an attorney with Covington & Burling, and served as a legal fellow at CIEL.

Carroll has authored numerous articles and textbook chapters on national and international environmental policy and is a recognized expert on international wildlife law. Together with Carl Bruch and Sandra Nichols, he is co-editor of the forthcoming book on Governance, Natural Resources and Post-Conflict Peace Building (Routledge 2014).

Carroll is a member of IUCN's Commission on Environmental Law and the Board of Editors for the International Journal of Wildlife Law and Policy.

He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Law School and Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service.